

An Extraterrestrial Creation Myth

This article was transcribed from a channelled event held in Mann County, California. The channelled entity that is speaking is our beloved friend Alarius.

Long, long ago--or maybe only today because we are still in the same Cosmic Day. Do you all know how long a Cosmic Day is? A Cosmic Day is as long as it takes for the Universe and All That Is to separate from the Source, reach its maximum point of separation from the Source, and then to turn around and come home and be one with the Source again. So in terms of earth years that is a very, very, long time.

So the Source at the beginning of the Cosmic Day is making the decision to separate itself into all these very many different forms of manifestation. And it finds that it has quite a task at hand. Its saying, 'Goodness gracious. This is a lot to do! Maybe I'll create something to help me and I will call this something a vector. And I will give Vector 1 the job of creating all the planets and the universes and the solar systems and the stars.

Do you like this story so far?

So we have a group called Vector 1 whose job is to create planetary bodies. At some point early on in this Cosmic Day a bunch of folks from Vector 1 said, 'Let's create a planet and let's call it Earth.' And so they put themselves in a particular configuration around this particular point in space and they toned. And as they toned matter began to emerge. You know, you've heard that before: "In the beginning was the tone."

So here we have a planet called Planet Earth. Vector 1's job does not end when it creates something.

Vector 1 continues to work with this planet throughout its entire evolutionary process.

So once it has been manifested, the next stage for Vector 1 is to help this planet to reach its point of maximum separation from the Source. That means they have to help it condense into matter. They have to keep finding ways to limit it until it reaches 12 o'clock in the Cosmic Day for this planet. Our information says that happened on March 7, 1988. Which means this planet reached its point of maximum condensation then. That signalled the time for Vector 1 to take the planet and help it flip a U-turn and begin to return to the Source. Now, as this planet begins to return to the Source, it spiritualizes. Instead of becoming denser it becomes lighter. So the planet is lightening up.

Now there is another vector--Vector 2. Vector 2 has the job of deciding what species are going to exist on these planetary bodies that are manifested by Vector 1. So you can thank Vector 2 for the body you are sitting in here, whether you like it or not. And you can thank Vector 2 for the birds and the trees and the little animals and the lakes, streams, rivers, the grassy meadows--Vector 2 was in charge of manifesting all of the different species of things that exist here.

Now Vector 1 has just flipped a U-turn. That puts Vector 2 in an interesting situation, because all of a sudden Vector 2 has to mutate all of the species that exist here so that they, too, can make a 180 degree flip and start returning to the Source.

So this is actually quite a time of joyous celebration for those of you who like going home. For those of you who like going away from home it's not such an exciting thing. But for those of you who would be interested in being One with the Source again, this might be a time of celebration for you.

So all the species are mutating. And the next group you have is called Vector 3. And Vector 3's job, in a large, general context, is to generate all the possibilities and probabilities as to what is real and will be explored by all the species that exist on the planetary body.

So Vector 1, Vector 2, and Vector 3 work very much hand in hand, wouldn't you say? Because it's useful to have a planet to stick species on. It's useful to have species to put on planets. And it's useful to have possibilities and probabilities for them to explore while they are there so they don't just sit around like lumps.

Now, while Planet Earth was condensing the possibilities and the probabilities that were presented to the species that are here were possibilities and probabilities that would allow them to condense with the planet. We call this mastery of limitation. So I'm sure you had all gotten quite good at that before March 7, 1988. Since then, I'm sure you have discarded it and are wholeheartedly exploring possibilities and probabilities of how to live here as a divine master and express your own divinity fully. Correct? Well, maybe not fully, but I'm sure you are at least heading in that direction. You are here.

And then there is Vector 4. Vector 4 is interesting, because Vector 4 is populated by entities that are so huge that each one of them could hold this planet in the palm of their hand. And these beings sit in a profound state of meditation and dream everything that Vector 3, Vector 2, and Vector 1 are doing. Sometimes these beings dream aspects of themselves into the dream so that they can explore and experience and experiment in their own vast and wondrous dream of reality.

Wouldn't it be interesting for you to consider the possibility that you might be an aspect of one of these Dreamers projected into Vector 3, Vector 2, and Vector 1 creations—which all emerge from the Dreamer?

Allow yourself for a moment to close your eyes and take a deep breath and let yourself imagine what it would be like for you to be the Dreamer and what it would be like for you to be here as an aspect exploring the dream. And then imagine the possibility that the Dreamer is in the process of dreaming a new dream.

* * * * *

And now imagine that you are one of the Dreamers and you are dreaming what we know of as the dimensions. Dream a dimension where everything that exists is completely conscious at all times that it is One with everything else that exists. And call this dimension the twelfth dimension.

Next dream a dimension where the illumination for the Light emerges from. Where everything is in a state of expectancy, everything is in its perform state, just on the verge of coming into manifestation. But not quite yet. And call this the eleventh dimension.

And now dream a dimension where everything is moving into manifestation. But before it takes form it is pure light. And call it the tenth dimension, where everything is pure crystalline light, the most brilliant light you have ever seen.

And now as you, the Dreamer, continue to dream, dream a dimension full of all the planets, stars, solar systems, galaxies, and the universes. And they are all live, conscious entities. And call this the ninth dimension.

Now dream a dimension where everything that exists is a group-soul entity, whether it is a group as small as two or a group as large as billions and billions of entities. And each group-soul will have its own divine purpose and intention. And call this the eighth dimension.

And now dream into reality a dimension where everything exists in its purest, individuated expression in essence-form, where everything is a pure light and colour and tone--a Divine Essence. And call this the seventh dimension.

Next dream a dimension where everything exists as a symbolic language, a beautiful, lyrical, complex, and wonderful dimension where DNA codes are designed, where thoughts and feeling! Are generated, where whole language! Emerge, where music and art come from. A wondrous, symbolic dimension within which are endless dimensions of its own. And call this the sixth dimension.

Now dream a dimension where extraterrestrials and angels and interdimensional masters live lives in light bodies in service to Spirit and in service to Planet Earth. And call this the fifth dimension.

And now dream a dimension, the first dimension where the illusion of a battle between the forces of good and evil are allowed by All That Is, a dimension where all your karmic patterns exist, all the referencing to your past existence, where forces of Light and Darkness struggle for your very soul in a grand and intense drama. A dimension where there are leprechauns, elves, fairies, unicorns, beings in a place called Middle Earth, dark forces, disembodied, earthbound spirits, spirit guides and spirit helpers. And call this dimension the fourth dimension.

And now dream the second dimension where there is allowed the illusion of a battle between the forces of good and evil, a dimension where you have a dense physical body. A dimension where you live an existence that is now in a tremendous transformative, transitional state. And call this the third dimension.

Now allow yourself to simultaneously witness all of the dimensions and consider the possibility that you may have an identity on each of these dimensions. And allow yourself to witness the magnificence of being a multidimensional identity. And from this place, allow yourself to go back to any of the dimensions that you found fascinating, and explore them more fully.

On each dimension where you exist you have a life that is complete unto itself, and yet all of these lives are strung together like beads on a string. And all of that is what you are within the dream.
