Kundalini – Serpent Power.

'Kundalini' literally means coiling, like a snake. It is a coiled serpent at the base of the spine. The coiled spring is untapped potential energy. This energy is described as a sleeping serpent coiled three and a half times at the base of your spine. It is a storehouse of creative energy awaiting the command to spring into action; Kundalini is the active property, which functions under the direction of Universal Law, d.n.a, and the subconscious mind. In Eastern legends she is a Goddess, and to know her is to possess the wisdom of a creator. When uncoiled, streams of creative energy known as prana are released, drawing energy from the inner levels of consciousness for mental creation or for physical procreation. All serpent worship and initiation surrounded the awakening of the Kundalini in the body, to transmute it into light. This is a mysterious but natural process in which transformative energies surge through the system, bringing about a dramatic transformation of mind, body and soul.

I am Kundalini, the divine Mother of all form.

Coiled in sleep at the base of the spine, the serpent power of the Goddess Kundalini gives life. When she awakens and begins to rise, the forces within (Shakti) merge with the powers on high (Shiva), consummating the sacred marriage. From this union of earthly and heavenly energies comes spiritual rebirth and wholeness. As the fluid of light spins the chakra wheels in the body, it cleans out the old impressions, the Kundalini, ascends the sushumna, the middle channel, creating incredible experiences.

The Kundalini is an all powerful, unstoppable, erotic, terrifying yet most beautiful force.

The Cosmic serpent was revered through all time, as the source of creation. When the matriarch societies in ancient times, were crushed by the patriarch invaders, they changed the stories to fit in with male dominance on the planet. They changed the story; the serpent became a villain, replaced by Yahweh as the creator. The serpent was defeated by a mighty God. Or so the stories say. What lies they tell. Zeus was once a serpent Goddess now perverted into a patriarch God of Olympus. Zeus defeater of Typhon, serpent monster, child of Gaia, earth goddess, the forces of nature. Serpent Dancer

Lost in times past, lives unfolding reams upon ream. Holding on to dreams long ago, cloudy and forgotten

There is a cold heart in the mountain it sounds a lonesome beat. The blood runs through my veins, constant and rich.

My bones ache as I walk this path, my dreaming wakes the serpent beneath my feet.

Lost and entranced by the rhythm of my own soul.

The sound of the desert haunts me, calls me, beckons me to join those that are leaving.

Dark and cold tunnels await me, deep in the mines of my own existence.

Caught in the spider's web, trapped yet not against thee will.

Naked the soil tastes rich in my mouth; the Serpent Dancer is rising within me.

In times past we wore our beads with pride.

Their blood tasted sweet on our tongues, knowledge endless, ancestors bound in time.

The serpent enters me; forked tongue drives through me like a cold blade. Death awaits me; its sweet lament sings me to my bed.

The men wait in the shadows, unknowing the force ignites, they fear us. We are the serpent dancers.

Wine red and pungent runs like blood through my veins. The drum beat pounds in my chest.

HE is here, we can feel him rising, and HE is alive within the fruit on the bough.

His secret kept safe in the pearl of the sea, we will feast on his body tonight.

The fire in the centre, woman alive, naked, blood and mud smeared over our bodies.

Our temple the trees, our canopy the black of the night, our light the stars

The liquid, thick, foul yet potent, a sacred brew from a recipe long gone We live life, we know death, we see love in all the land. Swirling around and around and still the drum beats on.

The mist rolls in from the mountains, tendrils of ghosts of heroes dead and gone.

Feathered guardians stand in all Four Corners. The pool is dark and still.

We scream and wail at the moon, ecstatic shivers run up our bodies.

The lizard is inside me, opening me to secrets within my bones and flesh.

They walk out of the trees, their bodies sinewy and strong.

Their skin shimmers with scales their yellow eyes flashing in the moonlight, lizard lovers unite.

The forest eats my soul, it claws and grasps at my flesh, ripping and tearing, the pain, the ecstasy, sexual rapture, Earth unbound.

The ropes are tight against my wrists, the steel cold around my neck.

She howls and bays at the moon, the river flows over her body.

Her breasts erect and cold, sweet and warm between her legs, the fire bums on.

Crouching, curled, tense, waiting. The ground hard beneath her feet Her muscles ripple her passion rising.

The hunt is on, her victim lost in the darkness of her belly.

Screaming she pounds the earth, laughing she sings her mighty passion, A hawk screeches over head, she soars high, the forest beneath her, she swoops and caresses it like a lover.

Safe within the roots of an old oak she sleeps, her body black as ash, silently she falls back into the mist that announced her arrival.

With a last gasp the forest falls silent.

A closing eye catches the fire light, a soul catching gaze, cold and hot surging, alive and now.

She walks paths built by ancient hands forgotten by all except one.

A dark and black mountain awaits me

The Goddess - Kundalini channelling.

I am very pleased to be here, I am here to tell you about an energy that is within your physical body. I am not only an outside being to you, I am also within you. At the base of your spine, there is an energy, which is coiled almost to resemble a snake. For most of you, you have not experienced the activation of this energy. Your snake has been sleeping. Many of you have experienced me in your brief moments in your sexual encounters. You have felt my excitement rising up your spine, but unfortunately you have only allowed me in very small degrees into your experience. You are incredible, amazing, beautiful beings; the experience that you have during orgasm can be achieved in your everyday lives. It is not necessary that you have sex, it is possible to activate me within your body, and it is possible for me to raise my energy, up your body. Many of you have felt the excitement here tonight. Some thought it was fear. But it is not. I am awakening in your body. As you are aware, your planet is transforming, your are raising your energy from a third dimensional frequency to a fifth dimensional frequency. Your bodies are becoming a rocket, I am the fuel, and I am the fire.

Ride on me and I will take you home. Before the times of transformation, (these now times), there were many different techniques and practices that were needed to activate my energy. Many yoga positions and meditations were required. Some dedicated their whole lives for this. It took hard work and dedication. With the transformation of this planet the activation of me in your body, is becoming easier and easier. Many of you will experience the activation of me in a spontaneous way. Some of you are experiencing physical affects and side conditions due to this activation. Many of you are experiencing difficulties in your bowel and digestive systems. This is because of the activation of the Kundalini energy in your body. I am exciting your physical form, I am speeding you up. Some of you are finding this difficult to cope with. There are certain things you can do to aid this, drink water, do not drink it at cold temperatures. Tepid water is gentler on the body. There are certain herbs, the herb you know as sage is very beneficial to the digestive tract. Another physical symptom is sweating, drinking water will aid you. As you activate me inside of your body, you release poison from your body. If you do not help yourself to flush the toxins from the body, you may get skin reactions, these are all temporary, flush, the body, purify the body, with the activation of me, you will be healed, cleansed, you will become more harmonious.

You may ask why you would want to activate this energy in the body, I am your pure creativity, and I am the energy behind the manifestation of your reality. I bring your imagination into form. Pictures in your imagination combined with my energy can create your dreams in this world. Let me explain, your televisions are radiators of energy, it is very similar to your minds. If you do not have our television plugged into the mains, then it does not function, I am your electricity, your fuel, creative imagination, energy in form that can change your lives. In times past and in lives past you knew these secrets; your bodies were much more open to me. Many of you worshipped me; many of you danced my energy. Many of you were serpent priestesses.

Love Kundalini.

As you can see I am not doing any more seminars for this year. I am still doing readings if anyone is interested. I am taking some time off to write my new book and then I am planning a trip to India.
