Alloya is back from India

Hi Everyone

, this is the first newsletter since the Venus ellipse. On the 8th of June Venus eclipsed the Sun. This has never been seen on earth by anyone alive , so therefore it is a very special and important sign in the heavens , that we are indeed moving forward into an important phase of transformation and healing . This phase will last until the year 2012, when the second of this Venus transit comes about . Between these two times in the Mayan calendar ,we will be asked to re- look at our relationships and the way we exchange our energies . As you know we are transforming the human story on this planet and this transformation has to begin, with the way we relate to each other. continued on page 2.

Seen and Unseen

We are experiencing intense transformations in our relationships, due to the exchange of male and female energies, occurring in the universe. The Venus eclipse who's first of two transits occurred on the 8th of June heralded the beginning of a mass shake up, of what we know of the male / female relationship. of density. Venus is the planet of relating, as she came in front of the sun which represents the male, she called all beings on the planet to readdress the balance between male and female energies. Between the two Venus transits we will be called to account for our state of relating, with the opposite expression. continued on page 2.

Article about the energy exchange between male and female.

The Mayan civilisation, along with the Aztecs and Incas, placed tremendous important on Venus cycles. The Mayans regard the cycles of rising and setting of Venus near the Sun , as a key timing trigger in the world. Within the Indian Vedic traditions, the 120 year Venus transit cycle is also regarded as of major importance. It's not surprising then that the second Venus transit of this decade falls in June, 2012, just six months from the end of the Mayan calendar in December 2012.

In the early Mayan books, the Dresden Codex, the beginning of the Great Cycle in August, 3114 BC is referred to as the "Birth of Venus". As well, several of the surviving Mayan manuscripts also refer to Venus as a Sister Planet of Earth. And Mayan prophecy states that the renewed world of new consciousness will be born on the occasion of the Venus Passage across the Sun of 6th June 2012. The sun in astrology represents masculine energy and the principle life force in our Solar System. It's at the centre and from its position, it drives all the planets. In a chart it's your vital life force, the ability to give and receive, leadership, generosity and drive. Venus is the female love principal in astrology. It's the primordial Yin energy of our system. It's harmony, beauty, sociability, co-operation, women and the Goddess energy. So when Venus aligns with the Sun (from our Earth's perspective), the principle life force is united with love, female energy, harmony and the Goddess principle.

The June occultation occurs at 18 degrees Gemini with a strong opposition to Pluto. This means very powerful energies are released to harmonise the masculine vital force enabled by the transformational energies of Pluto - almost irresistible! A powerful time of transformation for our very disturbed and disrupted world. This Venus transit couldn't be happening at a better time.

Whether you are in a female body or in a male body, we will have to look at the exchange of energies between male and female. We through our transformation will find a way , for both sexes to work together in harmony rather than having one dominant over the other. We are to find a way of bringing the gifts of both together as one. Only then , can we walk hand in hand with each other , as we move into the final phase of the transformation. Many of us have had incarnations in both sexes, and we of course have our inner male or female. Now is the time to look within to balance these two energies within us ,so we can then see it mirrored out into our outside reality.

So what is the state of your relationships , are you ready as a male or female to move forward?

Seen and Unseen

" We must reprogram our assumptions, concepts, values, and practices, which constitutes our way of viewing the reality of male and female interaction.

- All visible creation is male energy, in its expression.
- All things that are seen in manifestation are seen as male .The male energy is a state of radiation; therefore it is polarized in the male expression.
- All things that are unseen create a magnetic energy in the universe.
- The energy that holds all things together is female.

The seen and the unseen are the two great poles of the Creator. In order to bring about a complete transformation of the human story, we need as a species to stabilize the male-female relationship. The prime cause of disharmony in relationships has little to do with personality, education, background; it has to do with energy. First of all let's look at the atom for as microcosm and macrocosm dictates, the secret must be there. Male and female must be looked upon as energy units of opposite charge. Look within the atom to know the secrets of the balanced energy system between male and female. Look to the love between electrons and protons that create the balanced atom, to see how we should function in our transformation.

Every form, whether it be an atom or planet, possesses a consciousness; it is either positively or negatively charged. In other words, it is either male or female. The male atom is called a positive particle and the female atom - a negative. Creation itself is produced and made up of the active and receptive principles. This principle of creation is based upon the negatively (-) and positively (+) charged poles of polarity, that can be witnessed throughout all creation. This duality of the energy of creation is expressed in the relationship between all male and female species of physical life, and between the subatomic particles of electrons and protons in the atom. There are only two energies in the Universe. Either male or female. The two energies that sustain the Universe are radiance and magnetism. The Sun gives off light, and radiation which sustains. This is an important function but no more important than magnetism that gives form to all things and holds all creation together. Magnetic energy, female energy such as gravity, is invisible, but its effect is powerful, just as radiance is, which is visible. There would be no form to give off radiation without magnetism to create the form.

To create balance, we must understand the purpose of the two energies. The male, or the positive energy, is radiant, action, or sending energy. The female, or negative energy (not negative as in bad, but negative as in electricity) is magnetic, attracting, and receiving. In order for any creation to occur, there always has to be an active (+) act such as the producing of a thought in the form of a goal for example (yang), followed by the receptive (-) act of receiving the image within the subconscious mind where it can begin to mature (yin) for eventual manifestation into the physical .During sex, the male body is the sender of the seed. The female body, on the other hand, is the receiver of the seed. When impregnation occurs, the growth of the baby or new creation is an automatic process.

One of the reasons the male energy has dominated in recent times is that it is a more visible energy. The feminine energy is indeed a mystique, or mystery, because only its effects can be seen, but the energy cannot. The heavy male dominance is being counterbalanced, however, by the opening of the next faculty in man which is the intuition, which is also feminine. The main point to remember is that in the end both male and female energies will play an equal role in our transformation.

No human or atom can become stable without the correct interplay of energy.

In all male-female relationships the male unit must be radiant and sending, and the female must be magnetic and receiving, or the energy of the relationship will be out of balance. Both sexes are equal in value. One cannot exist without the other. There is no creation with just one sex. They must work together. Some males and some females can do well operating in their opposite's energy but they are going against the current. They can advance themselves, if they go with the current in their own energy, just as any swimmer can attain the greatest speed going downstream. When a woman refuses to receive or cannot receive, because there is no man in her life who can give to her, she will feel out of balance. If she is the companion to a man who is less evolved than herself, then she automatically becomes the provider, or the male energy, even while in a female body. Playing the role of male energy in a female body is like swimming upstream.

Continued from page 2 ...It is difficult and the person will inwardly yearn for the downstream current. Many females who understand this principle will complain about the difficulty in finding a male who can give to them in a romantic relationship. On the other hand, many males will also complain that they cannot find a female who will receive.

The female can seek to receive higher knowledge from a sending (male) and thus balance herself by receiving. Of course, both sexes use both energies, but the emphasis for the physical male should be on sending and the female on receiving until balance is achieved. To put mankind in alignment with nature, as is in the atoms, and then the correct interplay must be established among us, just as it is in the microcosm. The correct interplay of the negative and positive (or female and male) energies in the subatomic world creates an atom which is greater than the sum of its parts. As does the correct interplay of male and female in the human kingdom, create something more than the male or female alone.

Male and Female Polarity by Amanda I.Harris

Male and Female Polarity
Male and Female Dance
Let us dance gracefully, respectfully fulfilling the others desires
Let us reunite, merge as One torch, one flame- our fire

"Oh! It is so strange to have gender I must convey this message to you!
What am I to do with this?
Where do we go from here?"

Oooo, sweet Extraterrestrial, come bath in my cool waters
Do not concern yourself so
You will be male/female and merging through me, you will know...
"You will know"

Bathe in my energy, for I love you so

Once upon a time marauders came here
They did not concern themselves with My honey
They did not concern themselves with My milk
They did not even want my wisdom, and He felt like I needed help

Ah! My great protector, the thunderer in the sky!
He has always listened, but this message has been twisted and turned into a lie
I am okay my warrior, Allow your protection to become a fierce love of me
It is now time to allow, live and let go, live and let be
Look through my eyes, see what the Goddess sees

Know yourself as male, know yourself as female
So often the Shamans in ancient times Would dress up as the other gender, wisdom they implored
To know the other is to know thyself Listen child!
For the merging shall never come
If the work of both God and Goddess is not equal, The work shall not be done

We are those shining stars
You are my Goddess breasts
Drink what is yours,
There is an abundance
Please let it flow
Journey within, celebrate your gender, then let it go...

Merge... Merge...
Merge with All-That-Is.

I would like to draw your attention to my new book , " Her Perspective " . This has recently been put on my site. It is as the title implies , about the history of the Earth from the Goddess's perspective. It is free to download in PDF format. Anyone can download for free Acrobat reader, so they can read the file.

Contained within this new Goddess section is also showcased a new and up and coming poet, Amanda L.Harris. She has very kindly given me permission to show her work. Take a look I am sure you will be interested in both perspectives on the Goddess. There is also some amazing art from Andrew Gonzalex and Josephine Wall.

I am always open to anyone sharing their thoughts on my work and I am also interested in any poems , artwork , or channelled information from the Goddess herself. So please email me with your contributions and I would love to put them on my site.

Thanks Love Alloya. <http://www.alloya.com/gstory.html>

Follow this link to download Acrobat reader. <http://www.adobe.com/acrobat/readstep2.html>

Do not forget the " The Mission of the One Star " , available to buy online. Sales have been slow and a little disappointing but hopefully in this new year, it will be more successful.

Take a look at www.alloya.com , for intend to be adding some new information in the near future.

Need to ask questions about your direction in this new year , ask for a soul reading on line.

Finally I would like to say that I do not intend to do any seminars until the beginning of September after which time , I am hoping to have a completely new program for my seminars . I am in training as we speak and I am very excited about how my work will change in the future. I am however still available for readings and individual sessions( if you are in the south west area of England obviously ).

If you are interested in a reading please email alloya@alloya.com

Anyone wishing to add to the website www.alloya.com, or newsletter, please do not hesitate to email me, I am always looking for other people's experiences, poems, channelled pieces, artwork etc. I am also interested in any links to other sites which you think would be of benefit to my fellow hybrids and star beings. I intend to send you all a questionnaire about my website and newsletter in the near future , I hope you will not mind answering a few questions for me , so I can make improvements.

Thanks.

All my love Alloya
